CHANGING THE WORLD FOR THE BETTER

The University of Wolverhampton's research is wide-ranging, tackling everything from cancer research, cybersecurity and rainforest governance, to biodegradable dressings, dementia, and English novels. At the heart of all they do is a desire to change the world for the better.

Academics and researchers collaborate with others around the world, and the latest Research Excellence Framework, released in 2022, judged more than half of its output to be either internationally excellent or world-leading.

At the University of Wolverhampton, courses are taught by one of the specialist academic schools, which are grouped into three overarching faculties.
